

New Peaks To Conquer

—Photographs, Canadian National Railways.

THE Alpine Club of Canada is attempting to scale a number of unclimbed peaks in the Mount Fryatt section of Jasper National Park, Alberta, this summer. The section of the park where activities are centered has been visited by only a few pioneer climbers and most of the mountains are unnamed as well as unscaled. Jasper National Park, with an area exceeding 4400 square miles, is the world's largest national playground and is located wholly within the Canadian Rockies. The top photograph shows three of the peaks in the Fryatt section which the Alpine Club will try to climb. From left to right they are: Christie (10,180 feet); Brussels (10,370 feet) and Lowell (10,200 feet). The insert shows members of the Alpine Club on a precarious perch overlooking Maligne Lake which is world famous for its speckled trout fishing as well as for its beauty.

HELD IN HALIFAX JAIL CHARGED WITH SHOOTING WOMAN NEAR SCOT NECK

Tarboro Woman Shot By Youth

Tarboro, July 28.—Ruby Green, 24-year-old white woman, lay in a local hospital tonight with a wound from a .38 calibre bullet through her neck and cheek while her alleged assailant, John Dempsey Brown, Jr., 21, of Pinetops, was understood here to have been released under $100 bond after a preliminary hearing in Scotland Neck.

The shooting occurred about 3 o'clock Monday afternoon on Highway 258 in Halifax County near Scotland Neck as the man and woman sat in the rear seat of an automobile driven by a Pinetops youth whose last name was given as Sumerlin. His first name could not be learned.

State Highway Patrolman Otley Leary arrested Brown here following the shooting when Brown and Sumerlin stopped at a filling station to wash blood from the car. Leary said Brown had taken the wounded woman to the hospital, then had bought new clothes from a local store, putting them on to replace his others which were covered with blood.

Brown, who was kept in jail here for several hours before Halifax officers came for him, was quoted by Leary as saying the shooting was accidental. He said, Leary related, that he was pointing the pistol at the girl but had no idea of firing it when she grabbed his hand, causing the weapon to discharge. Both the woman and Brown were drunk, according to Brown's statement to the patrolman.

Physicians said tonight the girl's condition was "good" and that she would probably recover. The bullet entered the left side of her neck, ranging upward and making its exit through the lower portion of the right cheek.

Announce Birth

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Harrell announce the birth of a son, Haywood Howard, Tuesday, July 28. Both mother and son are doing nicely.

Lewter-M'Donald

Of special interest to many friends here is the following announcement clipped from a recent South Carolina paper.

Of interest to their many friends is the announcement of the marriage of Mrs. Cottie Mason Lewter and Donald J. McDonald, which took place in Washington, D. C., Wednesday, July 1st. Mrs. McDonald came to Kingstree last year from her home in North Carolina, and is the popular and efficient proprietor and operator of the Kingstree Beauty Shoppe here. Her many friends will be glad to learn that she does not plan to leave Kingstree, but will continue to be in business here. Mr. McDonald is a Legionnaire, having served overseas during the World War. He has been engaged in government business in Washington, but is a native of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. McDonald have returned to Kingstree where they will make their home. They have the best wishes of a host of friends.

Charles Moore of Asheboro visited his mother, Mrs. Helen Moore, last week.

Mrs. J. P. Pruden left Saturday to visit Mrs. J. E. Kirk in Greensboro this week.

Misses Nellie Bridgman and Euzela Ricks returned Saturday from a visit to friends in Hyde Co.

BOOTLEGGERS BUMPED OFF ROAD BY OFFICERS

Leroy Patterson, alleged bootlegger, and Henry Perkins, Negroes, were taken into custody Saturday afternoon near Camp's Store. Perkins was given a hearing in Records Court Tuesday and was sentenced to 12 months on the road. Patterson will be given a hearing next Tuesday.

Patrolman Arnold and Long of Weldon and Deputy Jordan of Northampton County made the arrest. Twenty-six gallons of moonshine whiskey were taken with the alleged bootleggers. When the officers blocked the road, Patterson, en route to Weldon, put his car in reverse and backed several hundred feet. The officers then bumped the liquor-laden car and knocked it in the ditch. Patterson and Perkins jumped from the car and ran into the woods, but were soon caught and carried to Jackson to jail.

Death Knell Sounded For Knock-Knock

Final Prize Winners For Week Are Announced

By HOWARD HANCOCK

Now and then a new fad springs up and seems to sweep the country by storm . . . all you can hear for days and days is about this or that fad; then when the point of human patience and tolerance is exhausted it goes into oblivion, never to be heard of again. We sincerely hope that will be the precise fate of the "Knock-Knock" craze which was palmed off on an unsuspecting public during the summer's terrific heat wave. It may be that "old timers" in the year 1986 will recall the record-breaking heat of fifty-years ago, and will charge up the current "knock-knock" fad to Old Sol.

At any rate, whoever is responsible, we will say that it was "fun while it lasted," and are pleased to announce final winners of guest's tickets to the Peoples Theatre for what, in our opinion, is the best five ideas sent in this week.

First prize undoubtedly goes to Miss Hattie Humphries, City, for her: "Knock-Knock." "Who's there?" "Thermos." "Thermos who?" "Thermos be some mistake." Miss Louise King, of Littleton, evidently takes her cue from a currently popular song in submitting: "Izzie—Izzie true what they say about Dixie?" Another Littletonian, Mrs. Claude Benton, contributes: "Mayor—Mayor sleep in your barn tonight mister?" Miss Virginia Belle Vincent, City, wins a free ticket to the Peoples for sending in the honey: "Amos—Amosquito bit me." And as this is the last knock-knock column (you may take that for a promise and go ahead and re* new your subscription with safety) we deem it quite appropriate to award the final prize to Mrs. Ola M. Gardner, of Littleton, who evidently feels the same way we do about it and sends in: "Saul—Saul there is, there isn't any more!"

Popular songs seem to be the inspiration for quite a few knock-knocks as among the "honorable mentions" we find one suggested by Miss E. Ruby King, Littleton, in "Robinson—Robinson Roses," and "Tom Tom—Tom Tom, I Love You," by Miss Norma Singer, Weldon. Miss Lucy Whitehead, of Garysburg, offers a slight variation of a heretofore used idea in "Howard—Howard you like to follow me," while Irvin Whitehead, of the same place retaliates with "Phillip—Phillip my gas tank." Other honorable mentions include Miss Pauline Kendrick, City, with "Gillette—Gillette Gem Razor bet," which if said slowly will produce the sentence: "Jill let Gem raise her bet;" Miss Ella Brown, one of last week's prize winners, with "Alcohol—Al-co-hol in the Knock,

SHE DIDN'T SMOKE OR SWEAR — OR EXPECT TO MARRY A MILLIONAIRE. But the former show girl sued one, just the same, and her story is told in The American Weekly, distributed with next Sunday's WASHINGTON HERALD.

Knocks," and Evelyn Johnson, City, with: "Whiskey—Whis-key fits the lock?" Fritz Wrightson submits: "Commute—Commute to see me sometime," and Miss Elizabeth Wilson, City, arranges a clever take-off of her own name in: "Lib—Lib and let lib."

An anonymous contributor submits the gem of the week in the form of a poem, which seems to sum up the situation very well. It runs something like:

"At our house things are screwy, for my brother and my sis, make strange, inhuman motions and then ask: 'What's this?' They wiggle their ears and crumple their hats. They pull out their hair; they're as nutty as bats. They twist their legs and loudly crow, then ask 'What's this?' I'm supposed to know. Now father is different; he says 'Knock-Knock.' If we don't say 'Who's there' he gets raving hot. Mother asks 'Piggy' Pa asks 'Piggy who?' Ma says 'Darling, it's Piggy-boo.' If something's not done very soon, by heck, I'll be another Zioncheck."
