LATEST TYPESETTING MACHINE

Above is the new typesetting machine recently installed by The Roanoke Rapids Herald, the latest model Intertype costing over five thousand dollars. This machine sets six different sizes of type, figures and characters, double that of the old machine used by The Herald for many years. Besides setting type for news, ads and headlines, the new machine also is used for setting all kinds of job printing, ruled work and tabulations. This is the newest and most modern typesetting machine in Eastern North Carolina today.

That's what both teams are saying about the 1936 Softball City Championship. "It's mine". These two boys look like they are going to fight over it and it is going to be a real scrap when Roanoke No. 2 Weavers and Rosemary No. 3 Spinners meet in the opening game Saturday afternoon to decide the 1936 City Championship. Best four out of seven takes the cup. They play a double-header Sunday. See Sport Page inside for details.

New Tops Recorded In Use of Soy Foods
On Dinner Tables of American Families

STEADY rise in consumption of soy flour gives indisputable evidence of the growing importance of the soy bean as a food product in the United States.

Through household pages of the daily press and government bulletins the American housewife is learning that the soybean is one of the few vegetable sources of perfect protein, and is rapidly adding it to the daily family diet. This is shown in reports of bakers to members of the Soy Flour Association, Chicago. Bakers are finding an increasing demand for their highly palatable and nourishing products containing soy flour, which is practically starch-free, yet rich in nutrition, essential minerals and vitamins.

In stressing the amazing growth of soybean products in the American diet, Hope Needham, skilled food expert, declares the uses "read like a bill of fare, from soup to nuts," which is almost literally correct. She points to the ever-greater consumption of soybean loaf, rolls, nut bread, muffins, cookies, cakes and the like.

On the American table today are found many dishes containing the products of the delicious and nutritious soybean. Such foods include breakfast foods, macaroni, crackers, biscuits, soups, cheese, margarine, coffee substitutes, soy sauce, vegetable milk, infant foods, confections and numerous other articles. In 1934, for instance, much of the 20,907,000 pounds of soybean oil used in this country went into edible food products such as salad oils and butter substances.

The list is small, experts point out, compared with that of the Orient, in parts of which the soybean has long been the basic food product. But a real start has been made here, and the prospect of the soybean becoming a food product of some magnitude is declared to be extremely bright.

The Roanoke Rapids Crippled Clinic, held here the third Wednesday of each month, has extended its work to include a special time for private patients, in addition to the free clinic for those unable to pay. The following letter has been mailed to doctors in this section of the State which explains the new feature of the clinic:

ROBERT TAYLOR IS MEMBER OF CAST IN FILM AT IMPERIAL

Ursula Parrott Story Will Be Shown Mon.-Tue.

WHEN A MALE star like Robert Taylor captivates the feminine hearts of the nation as he has done since the memorable "Magnificent Obsession," it just seems like he cannot make pictures fast enough, so the ever-obliging management of the Imperial has gone back a few months to find the Ursula Parrott story, "There's Always Tomorrow," with Frank Morgan and Binnie Barnes in leading roles, but nevertheless with the handsome Taylor in the cast, to show their Monday-Tuesday patrons next week.

When it comes to a love that is constant, we commend you to that of the role enacted by Binnie Barnes, in the aforementioned article. When Frank Morgan was quite a young man and her boss, she loved him with all her heart and soul. Frank marries Lois Wilson, however, without dreaming of Miss Barnes' affection. So Binnie goes forth in the world and becomes a most successful business woman—while Frank becomes the father of five children. All thru the years Miss Barnes never ceases to love her former boss, however, and almost a quarter-century later calls upon him at his home.

Having spent all of these years being a husband and father of five, Morgan has forgotten there ever was a girl like Binnie Barnes. Frank is very fond of his wife and family, and they like him—especially as he pays the bills and tends the furnace. It breaks our hearts to tell it, but soon Frankie is spending every Thursday night with Miss Barnes at her home. But, don't jump to hasty conclusions. Before the strict censorship there might have been a dash or two of sinning, but what with Hollywood "cleaned up" as it is these days, all Frank and Binnie do is eat sandwiches and drink coffee, while she makes him "feel important," as she explains. If there is one thing a man likes it is to feel important, and if he can't do it in his own home—well, don't be surprised if you find him spending his Thursday nights out! One night four out of the five children find out about papa's Thursday nights, and business picks up in general.

GLENDY FARRELL and Edward Everett Horton are the brilliant co-stars of "Nobody's Fool," which will be shown the Imperial's "bargain day" patrons next Wednesday-only.

MELVYN DOUGLAS and Mary Astor are co-featured in "And So They Were Married," Thursday-Friday bill coming to the Imperial next week with a supporting cast headed by the child stars, Edith Fellows and Jackie Moran. At first glance Edith and Jackie appear to be a couple of little brats, but down underneath one finds they are two little Cupids! Jackie hasn't any mother, and Edith hasn't a father, her mother having "tied the can" to her husband, as the expression has it, after several years of unhappy married life.

Having been reared by his father, whose part is taken by Melvyn Douglas, Jackie doesn't think a great deal of women. Being forever in her mother's company, which role is enacted by Miss Astor, Edith simply cannot abide anything that wears trousers. She has caught some of her attitude from her mama, who believes she is living only for her child.

However, that is before Miss Astor meets Mr. Douglas, up in the snowy wastes of a California winter resort, where both have gone for their off-springs to spend Christmas. Their friendship does not begin auspiciously. In good truth, they hate each other at first. Miss Astor even goes so far as to throw a hard roll at Mr. Douglas in the dining room of the hotel, it smacking him on the end on his manly nose.

TOWN TALK

Miss Ella Lee Taylor of Flora McDonald College is spending her vacation here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Taylor.

Miss Florine Holt and Mrs. Louise Patterson have returned from Nags Head.

J. C. Taylor of Durham visited his sister, Mrs. A. L. Cawthorne, Sunday.

Miss Minnie Johnson and her guest, Miss Margie Caldwell of Wake Forest spent the week-end at Nags Head.

Mrs. W. E. McDonald and Miss Lillian McDonald were visitors in Enfield Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. W. H. Jones is visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. E. Grant.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Wirtz spent Saturday in Durham.

To make things even more complicated, Edith and Jackie get off on the wrong foot with some fancy hair-pulling, scratching and one thing and another. Then Miss A. and Mr. D. begin to thaw out towards each other. A smile here, a pleasant word there and it is evident Miss Astor is beginning to like the boys again. One day their sled jumps the toboggan and while both are seated in the snow, Melvyn proposes and is accepted. Now you may not think sitting in the snow would be conducive to warm, rosy thoughts, but you simply do not know this new romantic love team.

When little Edith and Jackie find mama and papa are headed for the altar, instead of roses they strew broken glass in their pathway, but "And So They Were Married" anyway.

DONALD WOODS in the role of a newspaper reporter is sentenced to a hell-hole of a prison camp by a crooked politician on a trumped-up charge in "Road Gang," fast-action picture coming to the Imperial next Saturday. And what a prison camp it is . . . the men are trussed-up, beaten, starved and if anyone rebels, he is hustled off to work in the Blackfoot coal mines. Compared to the mines, the prison camp is a penthouse apartment with a private bar.

Woods is a spirited fellow, and as the warden is a pal of the politicians, it isn't long until our hero is found guilty of behavior that necessitates his presence in those mines. The outlook is pretty black, of course, but it is even blacker up above, where the politician is gaining in power.

However, there's a girl who loves Woods, a smart, energetic person who is resolved to wreck the political machine—and when it comes to throwing a monkey wrench into machinery, give us a determined woman every time.

"Road Gang" is "raw-meat" melodrama that is exciting and moves with rapidity. It should be a satisfactory offering for a Saturday show.

SAN FRANCISCO IS A STIRRING DRAMA OF BARBARY COAST

Star Studded Cast in New Film at Peoples

THE ANNOUNCEMENT that "San Francisco," stirring melodrama of the Barbary Coast, will be shown next Wednesday-Thursday at the Peoples is easily the "big news" of the theatrical week in Roanoke Rapids, however all three city houses continue with programs that are hard to pass up.

"HIGH TENSION," Monday-Tuesday attraction at the Peoples treats deep sea diving in a farcical rather than dramatic manner, and emerges as a fast-moving and very satisfactory comedy, with Brian Donlevy and Glenda Farrell in the leading roles.

Donlevy is seen as a diving expert with a sort of "Zioncheck Zipper" personality. He carries the brunt of the story, as it were, getting himself involved in scrapes ashore but gaining forgiveness from his boss, whose part is played by Robert McWade, and his sweetheart, Miss Farrell. When it comes to laying cables 30 fathoms under water, Donlevy is said to be the best in the business, and after all, 30 fathoms is pretty deep to lay anything.

However it appears that the ocean is not all Brian takes a dive for. He fairly takes a "nose dive" for every corner bar room, and when off the job hits the high places so hot and heavy that when he is not in "deep water" during working hours, he is usually in "hot water" thru some escapade of his. During a barroom brawl, Norman Foster befriends him with the result that Donlevy teaches him the diving business, and later, when Norman is on his own, Brian saves him from a watery grave in the best Hollywood tradition.

"High Tension" has been well handled with concentration on the comedy elements with the result that there are some very humorous sequences.

IF YOU have been searching around for something in the shape of an earthquake recently, and feel that the recent cyclones at Greensboro and Warrenton were not fast enough we suggest you may easily experience all of the thrills of such a spectacle without the attendant horror by going to the Peoples next Wednesday or Thursday to see "San Francisco." For in it, the picturesque city of the West Coast is split length-wise, cross-wise, broken into bits and the pieces either burned or washed away, in just about the most tremendous display of trick photography that has ever come out of Hollywood.

Swift on the heels of "Fury," MGM has produced another film that immediately looms as one of the year's best. It co-stars Clark Gable and Jeanette MacDonald, with Spencer Tracy, Jack Holt, Jessie Ralph and Ted Healy in prominent roles.

It's our venture the feminine fans will get extra heart-beats out of seeing their Clark in this picture, and even the males will admire the work of big Strong-Man Gable as a tough again—obviously the sort of role he likes best.

As "Blackie" Norton, Gable is the owner of the Barbary Coast's most colorful cabarets. He is seen as a powerful influence in the community, and one that Spencer Tracy, in the role of a Priest, thinks could be for good, but Blackie refuses to accept God.

Out of the Midwest comes Jeanette MacDonald, daughter of a minister, forced to sing for Blackie's patrons in order to keep body and soul together. There is a villain of the upper set, whose role is admirably portrayed by Jack Holt, who sets his cap for Miss Mac-ald, and offers her the opportunity to sing in Grand Opera instead of Blackie's cabaret. Now Jeanette dearly loves Blackie, but it isn't long before she is singing on San Francisco's right side of the railroad tracks. There is strife between Blackie and her, and altho good Father Tracy does his best to straighten it out, it takes an earthquake to knock some sense into bull-headed Gable's thick skull.

There is one excellent scene where Miss MacDonald meets Jessie Ralph, who portrays the part of Holt's aristocrat mother. Miss Ralph tells Miss MacDonald she needn't be afraid of San Francisco's so-called "aristocracy," explaining that she unquestionably rates in the "400" but that she actually came to the Western city to "take in washing," and that to his dying day her husband never felt comfortable in a coat at the dinner table. In short, the glorious Western city was built by a group of restless souls who had "romance in their heart and dynamite in their blood," she says.

The earthquake is the climax of the story, and it provides an excellent one. Buildings crumble, fleeing inhabitants seemingly are buried under tons of debris, and it is a hideous, soul-searing spectacle, admirably filmed. In the closing scenes, Gable at last accepts the church and Miss MacDonald.

"San Francisco" is being held over for the third week in Richmond, where we saw it a few days ago, and is enjoying long runs at all class "A" houses.

SUPREME DICTATOR-ELECT, LOYAL ORDER OF MOOSE

Chicago, July 4. — In today's session of the Supreme Lodge of the World, Loyal Order of Moose, William A. Anderson, of Indianapolis, Indiana, was unanimously elected to the office of Supreme Dictator. Other important elections were: William J. Egan, Newark, N. J., Supreme Vice Dictator; Judge Roy H. Williams, Sandusky, Ohio, Supreme Prelate, and Joseph Lilly, Des Moines, Iowa, Associate Justice, Supreme Forum. Mrs. Eva Starkey, of Lynn, Mass., was elected Grand Agent, Women of the Moose.

Mr. Anderson is a builder—of business structures, of Moose lodges, and of men. It happened a score or more years ago that Indianapolis Lodge gave a street fair, and instead of making money, as expected, lost it. The building company for which Mr. Anderson was engineer was the largest creditor, and the company bade him join the lodge and watch the financial proceedings in its interest. Before he realized it, Mr. Anderson became deeply interested in the Moose.

Soon it was proposed to establish Mooseheart, the Child City of the Moose, in Illinois, where nearly two thousand orphaned children were to be given a home, a high-school education, and instruction in a trade. Mr. Anderson quickly found himself definitely attached to the Moose and engrossed in its aims.

While he was engineering some of the largest building projects in Indianapolis, he found time to reorganize Indianapolis Lodge.

In time the Supreme Lodge of the Order took notice of him. "There's a man we need in the Supreme Council," was the expressed opinion of the Supreme Officers, indicating Anderson. And so, along with his duties at home, Mr. Anderson was instructed to find time to undertake the responsibilities of a member of the Supreme Council of the Supreme Lodge. Again was judgment justified. Again promotion followed. At the July, 1934, Convention at Atlantic City, the delegates unanimously elected Mr. Anderson to the office of Supreme Prelate, and at the July, 1935, Convention at Boston, he was

WILLIAM A. ANDERSON

Newly Elected Head of Moose Order unanimously elected to the office of Supreme Vice Dictator.

His judgment always is keen. He is quick to give credit to others, and he can be depended upon in emergencies. For twenty-six years Mr. Anderson has been secretary of Indianapolis Lodge, and so popular is he that never has there been a man to contest the office which he holds. It is the consensus of opinion that no man ever will want to stand against him, for in the state as well as in the national councils of the Order, he is a tower of strength that stands alone.

Mr. Anderson was educated in the common schools. He served an apprenticeship as a carpenter and joiner, and later took up architectural work at the American Architectural School in connection with the Armour Institute. After completing his architectural course he was employed by a large contracting company. For a short period he took over the agency for the Sidman Ventilating Company, one of the pioneer companies in air cooling systems.

He is a Thirty-second Degree Mason, Scottish Rite, and member of the Improved Order of Red Men. He has one son, Russell E.

GLASS COMES TO THE HOME

We live in an era of glass—glass hats, glass cooking utensils, even glass fabrics, but more particularly glass has found an important place in every part of our homes. Almost without our realizing it, glass has become an extremely important material in the construction and decoration of the American Home.

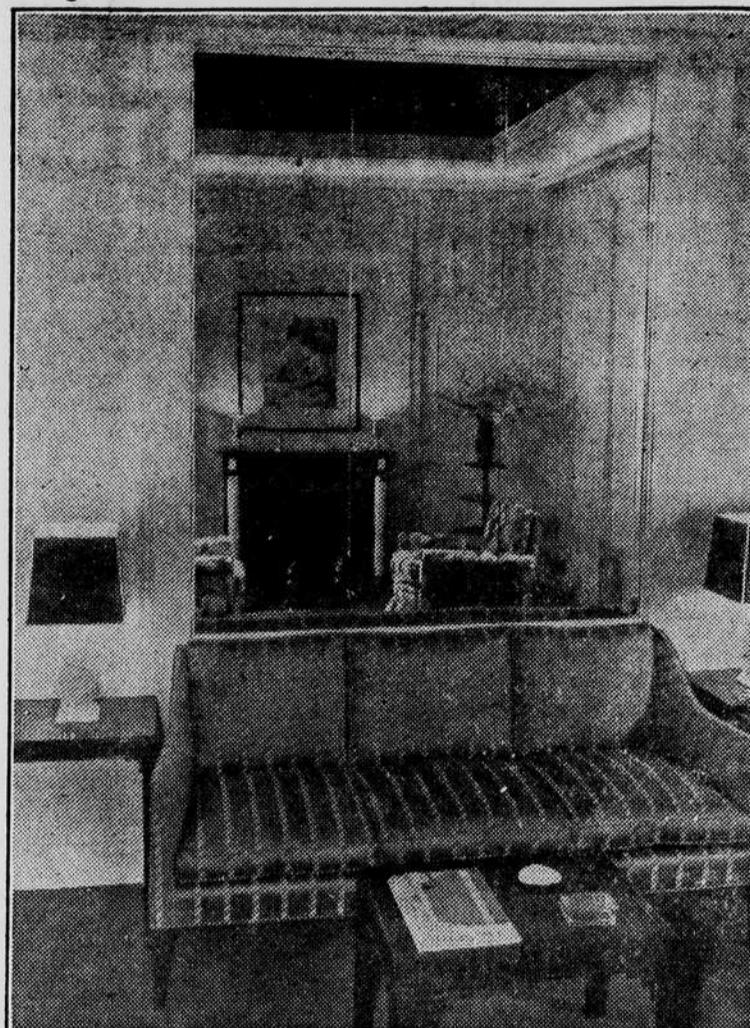

Windows are increasing in size and number; the quality of glass used is better. Plate glass, now made by a Pittsburgh Glass concern in a thinner and less expensive form, is coming more and more to replace ordinary window glass. Because of its highly polished surface, plate glass is superior in appearance and is more easily cleaned.

In the kitchen, we find glass shelves instead of wood. More durable, they are easy to clean and the contents of even the higher shelves can be easily seen from below. We find partitions of white or tinted glass used to separate kitchen from breakfast alcove, lessening the boxed-in feeling of a solid opaque wall. Glass tops for pastry tables are practical and efficient, and incidentally, are a way of modernizing old equipment.

In the dining room, we find both glass and mirrors. Large mirror sections over buffets and fireplaces add spaciousness and dignity to even a small room. If the room is narrow as well, heavy plate glass shelves across the corner provide an admirable substitute for a serving table.

The living room has dozens of uses for glass. Mirrors over mantel or sofa replace heavy pictures or paintings; mirror sections between windows to throw the area into one unit; mirrors at the far end of a long narrow room to draw daylight where it is most needed. These are only a few of the uses, not to mention glass built-in book shelves or corner cupboards, glass tops for tables and every sort of decorative glass accessory under the sun.

Hallways, particularly entrance halls, have been somewhat more neglected. The small mirror hung over a table is giving way to an entire mirror wall, partly to make a narrow space look wider and partly for the convenience of a full-length view of one's ensemble. Many a coat closet now boasts a mirror hung on the inner side of the door where guests may apply a dab of powder or comb a stray lock without going upstairs.

Mirror wall over sofa gives feeling of space and increases light.

In bedroom and bath, mirrors come into their own and become necessities. Dressing table and make-up mirrors come first. If it is possible to place the dressing table in the corner of the room, mirrors on the wall both behind the table and at the side permit a more satisfactory view of the head at all angles, yet leave the hands free (a frequent disadvantage in using a hand mirror). A full length mirror in closet or bathroom door (or both) is generally demanded nowadays, and with really good mirrors lower in price than ever before, they are no longer in the luxury class.

Glass shelves beside the bath tub, to hold dusting powder, bath salts, and even manicure equipment, are inexpensive enough for the most modest home, but will prove a definite convenience. Entire walls of carra glass, either in white or color, are as beautiful to look at as they are lasting and easy to clean.

Glass is, without doubt, more and more with us. And just what future part it will play in our lives and homes is largely in the hands of science—which has performed the improbable for us so many times.

"PEOPLE READ HERALD ADVERTISING" which undoubtedly explains within itself why the HERALD carries by far more local and national advertising than any other weekly newspaper in Halifax County.

During the month of May alone the HERALD carried 23,933 Agate Lines (approximately 2,000 column inches) of National display advertising for 28 foreign accounts. This is in addition to an even larger amount for local advertisers.

SOME local advertisers in SOME TOWNS may patronize their home-town newspaper because they feel it a "civic duty," but this type of customer would be a rank stranger to us, nor can we say we would be desirous of him. While he might be classed as a "Celestial Being" up above, here on earth only one term could possibly describe him, and that is to say he is a "poor business man."

The months of JULY and AUGUST may be looked forward to by thrifty shoppers for bringing the customary MID-SUMMER CLEARANCE SALES at various city stores. To the advertiser, the most economical, result-getting way to conduct these sales is by using HERALD advertising space. To the buyers, we point out as a timely suggestion that it will be well worth your while to look for these announcements in future issues of the HERALD during the next few weeks.

The Reverend Kermit Traylor has been called by the church to fill the pastorate of the Christian Church of Roanoke Rapids until the first of January.

He has held student pastorates in Alabama, Georgia, North Carolina, Tennessee and Kentucky and was assistant pastor in Jackson Boulevard Church, Chicago.

Mr. Traylor was born on a farm in Eastern Alabama where he worked until he left home to go to High School in Roanoke, Alabama, from which he graduated in 1929. The following Fall he entered Atlanta Christian College, Atlanta, Ga. and from there he went to Atlantic Christian College in Wilson where he received his A. B. degree in 1933, graduating cum laude. In 1935 he received the B.D. degree from Vanderbilt University and followed this with a year's work on his Master's degree at the University of Chicago.

A young bachelor, Mr. Traylor is one of seven brothers, all over six feet tall. He himself is 6 feet 6 inches. Which may account for his activity in athletics, particularly basketball. While in undergraduate college he was All-State center on the basketball team of the Little Seven Conference of N. C. and high scoreman in intramural basketball at the University of Chicago. He was All-City forward in professional basketball in Nashville, Tenn.

His address here is 915 Hamilton Street, his phone number R 530-6. Mr. Traylor says he is enjoying his stay here and is looking forward to some effective service in this fine city.

City Series To Start Saturday

Roanoke No. 2 Weavers vs Rosemary No. 3 Spinners

Rosemary No. 3 Spinners will meet Roanoke No. 2 Weavers for the City Championship. The seven game series will start Saturday, July 18th, at Simmons Park with a single game beginning at 4:00 P. M. The two teams will meet in a double-header the following day, Sunday, beginning at 3:00 P. M. The title of City Champions will go to the teams winning four out of seven games.

The same two teams met last year with Rosemary winning in a stunning upset after dropping the first two games. The Spinners this year have been managed by Russell Birdsong, whom baseball fans will remember for his star work on the diamond. They have come thru a hard league schedule and recently suffered a hard blow with the loss of James Hudson, star third baseman who broke his left shoulder in an auto accident. With the exception of Hudson the team will line up with its usual outfit. Birdsong today confirmed the report that Ernest "Lanky" Lee would start Saturday for the Spinners. The right hander has a season's record of eighteen wins and three defeats. "Bomber" Moye will do the catching.

Manager "Speed" Hux and his hard hitting crew of No. 2 Weavers will enter the series with full strength. Hux is a star first sacker on the team that he manages has really made a wonderful season's record with the downtowners. In "Sloppy" Cashwell, "Nub" Gossett, and "Fireball" Bailey, Manager Hux can boast of the best pitching staff in the city. While the playing of "Lefty" Davis and Pete Ferrell in the outfield and Lyles and Simpson in the infield has been of the best. Hux today stated that he was undecided, but that the veteran "Sloppy" Cashwell would probably get the pitching assignment for the first game; the team otherwise will start exactly as they have the whole year.

The parade will start Saturday from Roanoke Junction at 2 P. M. ending at the Ball Park in time for both teams to warm up. The first ball will be tossed out by Frank Williams with T. W. Mullen receiving. The game will start at exactly 4 P. M. Admission 15c and 10c. Grandstand free. Season tickets for the series will be available at reduced rates. The crack Rosemary Band directed by Jay Sanders, Tarheelia's most noted bandmaster, will play. Cheering sec-

Finals Chatter

Winners are hard to pick, boys, but you will have an edge with Cashwell, Gossett and Bailey. And don't forget Hudson. Can "Lanky" Lee hurl every game for the Spinners?

One sure thing, the team that wins four out of seven will be city champs.

Both finalists won three straight in the semi-finals. Patterson and Roanoke No. 1 going out via the Louis route.

Here's a silent prayer: Let good old Bill Hodges come back from sick leave in good condition. Bill's in Southern Pines, doctor's orders, taking a rest. A swell guy, good sport! Here's hoping, Bill.

Questions we would like answered: Who is the blonde that comes to all the games? Who will Birdsong play at third? Jones or Smith? Who will win the series? Will Cashwell win every game he starts?

We nominate for our Hall of Fame this week: "Bab" Ryals, because he, like Father Time, goes on forever. Pete Ferrell because of his graceful way of catching fly balls. "Lefty" Davis because he never kicks unless he has a very good reason; and last but not least, the Rosemary Girls Softball team for winning the city championship. Atta girls!

See you later!

STATE COLLEGE TEXTILE SCHOOL PLACES ALL ITS 1936 GRADUATES

The Textile School of North Carolina State College this year graduated the largest class in its history and every graduate has been placed in a textile position. A large percentage of these young men have been located in North Carolina, which would seem to indicate that the textile industry offers North Carolina boys an opportunity to secure employment in their own native state.

Dr. Thomas Nelson, Dean of the Textile School, stated recently that he had been unable to supply all the requests for graduates which came to him. He said that in his opinion, the scientific improvements of recent years in textile machinery, processes of manufacturing, and methods of distribution, made the textile industry a more fertile field than ever before for college trained men. Today State College Textile graduates are filling responsible positions in every phase of this great industry and the demand for graduates of this institution is steadily increasing.

For two consecutive years the Textile School of North Carolina State College has enrolled more full time day students than any other textile school in America.

Some idea of the wide reputation of this School can be gained by observing that during the past year the homes of its students ranged from Canada to Mexico and to other foreign countries.

UP AND DOWN WITH THE
The Avenue Editor

This is not our own but was suggested by a Herald reader: A long time ago people thought the world was flat; later they found out it was round; but now some think it's crooked. Our idea is that there have always been crooked people in this world, always will be; people whose minds and souls are so warped they will never get things straightened out. But this is a minority. Sometimes it grows; sometimes it lessens. It is always a minority. This may happen to be a period when crooked folks are permitted to get by with things, but history shows us there is always a revulsion and then we have less of it for a spell. No. The world is not crooked today. If the time ever comes that a majority of folks get that way, then there will never be a chance to swing back to honesty. And that time has not come. And there have always been enough honest-to-goodness folks to keep it from happening.

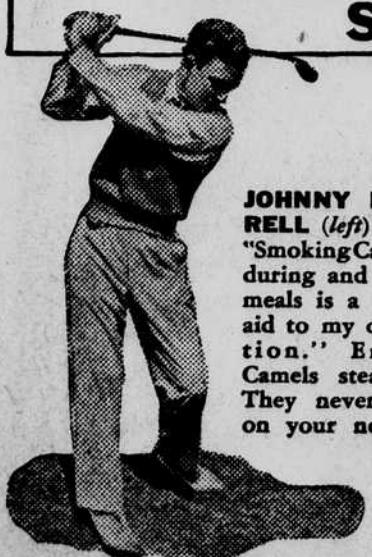

Rumors are that another big store has its eye on Roanoke Rapids and has been clocking the crowds for a suitable location. This is done by men who station themselves near the points in question and count the number of people who pass those particular locations. They go unnoticed because they carry the small counting machines concealed in one hand. To the average passerby they are leaning against a pole smoking a cigarette and just letting the rest of the world go by.

White lines across the Avenue at street intersections are there for a purpose. They are safety zones where those crossing the Avenue are supposed to pass. It will be twice as expensive for a car driver to hit a pedestrian in one of those white lines. They mean to slow down at all corners and watch for those crossing the streets. By the same token, the person who jaywalks, crosses the street in the middle of the block, is subject to less sympathy. Should he get hit when crossing at a place he is not supposed to, the blame is on him rather than on the driver who hits him. Children should be coached by their parents to cross only at corners between the white lines.

Speaking of checkers, there is another class which you may not have noticed. They are the theatre checkers. When a company produces a particularly good film, they do not sell it outright but on a percentage basis. This means that the producer gets a guarantee and so much of the gross take. They send checkers to the theatres to count the crowd and check the ticket-takers. Of course, they do not doubt anybody. And of course, the exhibitors just love it. The recent prize-fight picture was so checked.

Crowds from all sections saw the Schmeling-Louis fight film here this week. We saw folks there who had not been to a picture show in a long time. Yes. We saw it twice too. Afraid we might miss something the first time. Comments: it was the best fight film yet shown; it was taken from three different angles which kept it from getting tiresome; Schmeling fought a heady fight, has a powerful right; it popped into the microphones every time it landed on that unprotected jaw; Lou-

CAMELS COSTLIER TOBACCO

NEW PRISON CAMP FOR COUNTY AT A COST OF $30,000.

To Be Located Between County Home and Halifax

The State Highway Department has agreed to build a new, permanent prison camp in Halifax County at a total estimated cost to them of $30,000.00, it was learned today. The new camp will have brick or concrete barracks, and is to be located between Halifax and the County Home. There will be accommodations for at least 100 prisoners.

Arrangements for the construction of the new camp were made by a delegation from the county headed by J. W. Whitaker, chairman of the County Board of Commissioners, who appeared before the State Highway Department in Raleigh yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Coburn spent Wednesday in Lynchburg. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. King were visitors in Littleton Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Northington and Mrs. Lethia Cooper spent Wednesday in Richmond.

is was a whipped man after the third round, the first hard right to the jaw; he showed power when he came back to get bumped down in the 4th for the first time in his short career, stayed on for eight more; Pendleton Grizzard, fighting expert, says Joe Louis will come back and be heard from later; his reasons: he took plenty, he lacks experience; the first he has, the second he can get. Dempsey at his best could have whipped both of them. He always followed thru, something Schmeling failed to do on several occasions. To see it from a theatre seat was better than from a $25 seat in the Yankee Stadium. One saw more of the actual fighting.

A young lady, who has been visiting relatives in Roanoke Rapids for the past several months, on leaving for her home in South Carolina writes us the following: "Gee, how glad I shall be to gaze upon the Blue Ridge foot hills once again." We are not sure just why she wrote that. We choose to think it is simply a case of homesickness, the nostalgia of one who raised in the hill country longs to get away from the flatness of the coastal plains and back into the rolling country with the towering, encircling background of dark hills. On the other hand, we can recall our own feeling after living in a valley of the hills for years—a feeling which gradually became oppressive—a feeling of being hemmed in, cut off from the rest of the world by those everlasting mountains. It seems to take much to satisfy us and that much not long.

Miss Hazel Cobb has returned from Washington, D. C. where she visited her brothers.

COACH HOYLE HAS REMARKABLE SIX YEAR RECORD HERE

Teams Win 90 Baseball Games With Nine Losses

Coach Cranford Hoyle, for the past six years head coach of football and baseball at Roanoke Rapids High School, shows a remarkable record according to the files of The Roanoke Rapids Herald over that period.

Two of his football teams won North Eastern Conference championships, after which Roanoke Rapids was asked to withdraw from the Conference because of lack of competition. Another team went into the finals for the championship of Eastern North Carolina.

The baseball record is even more impressive. In the six years, under Coach Hoyle, Roanoke Rapids won two State championships, went to the finals a third year and won the Northeastern Conference championship three years.

The big coach has never had a losing year in either sport for the six year period. The totals show his teams won 42 football games to the opponents 11; they won 90 baseball games to the opponents 9.

His year by year record is as follows:

1930—Won 7, lost 2.
1931—Won 9, lost 1—Northeastern Conference Champions.

1932—Won 9, lost 0—Northeastern Conference Champions. Asked to withdraw from Conference because of lack of competition.

1933—Won 5, lost 3—his worst football season due to building an entirely new team.

1934—Won 6, lost 2.
1935—Won 6, lost 3—but tied for Eastern Carolina championship

1931—Won 15, lost 2—Won Northeastern Conference championship and also defeated Carolina Freshmen.

1932—Won 20, lost 1—Won State championship; won Northeastern Conference championship.

1933—Won 16, lost 2—Lost in final of State championship; won Northeastern Conference championship. After winning Conference three years in row, asked to quit Conference for lack of competition.

1934—Won 13, lost 1—Went to Eastern finals at Chapel Hill.

1935—Won 14, lost 0—Won State Championship and in post-season game defeated Woodrow Wilson High of Portsmouth, Va., Tidewater champions.

1936—Won 12, lost 3.

Building back again for the coming year, Coach Hoyle says his material is better and more experienced than any in recent years for both football and baseball. We think his six year record stands unexcelled among High School coaches over the same period of time.

Coach Hoyle graduated from Guilford College in 1929 where he was a star guard. The fall of 1929 he was assistant football coach at Guilford, coming to Roanoke Rapids High School the Fall of 1930 where he has been ever since ringing up all-time records in local sport annals. As a sideline, he teaches physical education and history.

Miss Irene Turner spent the week-end with her mother, Mrs. M. A. Turner, in Weldon.

A CHALLENGE TO THE PARTY

The Democratic Party in North Carolina has been challenged and it must answer that challenge before it is too late. Not only its ancient political foes, but also those within the ranks of the party are demanding election law reforms.

The recent Democratic primaries, June 6th and July 4th, have opened the eyes of the people of this State to the many faults in the present primary laws. To charge fraud and corruption, in view of the action of the State Board of Elections this week, is futile. The elections are over and the official counts have been made.

But the faults remain and the cry from one end of the State to the other is for immediate and drastic changes. We do not charge the party with a deliberate attempt to defend laws which are unfit to be on the books: we do charge that the last session of the legislature had an opportunity to help the situation and refused. Our own Senator advocated abolishing the absentee ballot, about which so much scandal has been raised in the past two elections. He was voted down but today there are thousands in the State who know he was right and who know the Democratic Party would have been much better off had that reform been made.

The absentee ballot must go along with other loopholes and chances for evil in our present system. The system of having any person to assist, with the wholesale assistance that follows, must be changed. Poll workers must be done away with. Extra safeguards must be thrown up to insure fair voting and fair counting.

As long as these evils or appearances of evil exist, our party stands challenged and vulnerable. The youth of today are the voters of tomorrow. The youth of today is graduating by the thousands from our High Schools. They are independent; thinking for themselves; they will need no assistance, will ask for no assistance.

This enlightened electorate of tomorrow will demand these election reforms to the end that all elections will be held honestly and fairly and every candidate will get exactly what is coming to him, no more, no less. If the Democratic Party does not make these changes, your electorate of tomorrow may turn elsewhere for relief.

We urge the next session of the legislature to give us better election laws and thus preserve the integrity and the future of the Democratic Party in North Carolina.

THE A. F. OF L. SPLIT

The eyes of the nation turn anxiously to the bitter struggle now being waged between two factions in the American Federation of Labor. By this time, drastic action may have been taken by those in the majority to oust the minority which is led by John L. Lewis.

The group of labor leaders led by Lewis are for unionizing labor by industries instead of by crafts. The American Federation of Labor is made up of many craft unions and this majority refuses to agree with Lewis and his crowd. The result has been a bitter feud between rival labor leaders, each trying to carry his point and thus hold his job.

When the insurgents began a drive to unionize the steel industry as a whole, paying no attention to the various crafts in the industry, the lid blew off and William Green, president of the A. F. of L., summoned the Lewis group before the executive committee, now in session. They refused to appear and the rift became greater.

Meanwhile, the Lewis group are going ahead with attempts to unionize the steel industry, one which has always maintained the open shop principle. They are meeting with resistance by that industry which says its workers are satisfied and have their own agencies thru which to carry on collective bargaining with their employers. The industry says it will not make it a condition of employment that a person belong to any organization.

What worries the rest of the country is that the steel industry may be slowed up in case strikes are called. This will affect every business in the country, starting with railroads and heavy building and coming on down to the smallest store in the country. The public which will thus be affected and injured is much perturbed at this possibility of slowing up general prosperity which is now evident.

Organized labor thus faces two major problems. It stands to lose the goodwill which the general public has had for it and which it must have in order to make gains. And it faces a bitter fight within its own ranks, a fight which has been brought on by the selfish ambitions of its own leaders, each seeking to better his own position rather than that of those whom he is supposed to represent.

VITAL STATISTICS

Vital statistics of vital importance to Halifax County show the death rate of white and colored about the same, the birth rate among the colored five times that of the white in all the county outside of Roanoke Rapids. The population today is about evenly divided. At the present rate, 50 years from now there would be about five times as many colored as white in Halifax County. We talked to a well-to-do white man who had a dozen brothers and sisters. He has no children.

KNOCK KNOCK FAD IS NEWEST MENACE TO CIVILIZATION

Idiosyncrasy Sweeps the Country Like Wildfire

HERALD OFFERS THEATRE PASSES FOR NEW IDEAS

You Might as Well Get In as You Will Suffer Anyhow

By HOWARD HANCOCK
CHALK UP another victory to the "nuts" of the country, and give them credit for putting over the latest, and by no means most sensible, fad that has been sprung on an unsuspecting public in the current "knock-knock craze", which threatens to be forty-times as popular as "So's your old man," Mah Jong, Cross-word puzzles or Yo Yo balls ever were.

The fad apparently originated in Philadelphia just before, or during, the Convention a couple of weeks ago, and it hit the Quaker City more viciously than seventeen-year locusts hit Roanoke Rapids. They call it "Knock, Knock," and there appears to be no possible escape. Here is an example of how it works:

After a hot, busy, tired day you finally creep into your bed for sleep. Suddenly you hear two raps upon your door. Quite naturally you inquire: "Who's there?" "Panther," a voice exclaims. Now what could one say to that? Perhaps you think, you hadn't heard right. Perhaps it was all a nightmare, or it seems entirely possible it was Zioncheck. "Panther who?" you shout; triumphantly, gleefully, a voice answers you back: "Panther what I wear. What do you wear?"

And so it goes, far into the night. Those who have become acquainted with this latest idiosyncrasy seem to live for little else. Apparently it sprang up as a sort of mental perversion in Philadelphia. Now, it appears that one of the nation's gravest dangers is that the "knock-knock" curse will spread. I explained the fad to a few of my friends. Believe you me, I have never regretted any circumstance more keenly in my life.

There must be at least ten thousand variations, and all of them are "worse". Last week-end, for instance, at a resort hotel on the coast I heard a nearby diner rap twice on the wall as I came down the steps. "Who's there?" I inquired, fully making up my mind to move from the building. "Dynamite," was the answer, and upon inquiring "Dynamite who?" I was informed: "Dynamite for me, but she wouldn't for you."

There's no telling when or how relief will come. A friend to whom I had explained the fad (in a weaker moment) sprang this one: "Knock, Knock". "Who's there?" "Esslinger." "Esslinger who?" "Esslinger party over the fourth of July." Or there's the one about: "Knock, Knock." "Who's there?" "Idaho." "Idaho who?" "Idaho lot rather go to the seashore than the mountains."

Maybe we can expect some relief from the next session of the Legislature. Anyway, moving along on this wave of insanity that is sweeping the country by press, by word of mouth, and by radio, the HERALD will offer five free tickets to the Peoples Theatre, for the next few weeks, to the five persons sending in the best, most original

Not wishing to offend I responded "Who's there?" The surprising answer was "Amonia." Dutifully I asked "Amonia who?" Triumphantly he said: "Amonia a bird in a gilded cage." What are you going to do about it . . . after all, manslaughter is a crime in any state.

Then to top it all off the room clerk exclaimed: "Knock knock." After making the expected inquiry as to who was there he smiled: "Depression." In exasperation I inquired "Depression who?" with which he fairly went into ecstasy and replied: "Depression club hasn't brought back your suit yet!"

There seems to be positively no stopping point. The janitor in my building this morning rapped twice on the wall as I came down the steps. "Who's there?" I inquired, fully making up my mind to move from the building. "Dynamite," was the answer, and upon inquiring "Dynamite who?" I was informed: "Dynamite for me, but she wouldn't for you."

There's no telling when or how relief will come. A friend to whom I had explained the fad (in a weaker moment) sprang this one: "Knock, Knock". "Who's there?" "Esslinger." "Esslinger who?" "Esslinger party over the fourth of July." Or there's the one about: "Knock, Knock." "Who's there?" "Idaho." "Idaho who?" "Idaho lot rather go to the seashore than the mountains."

Maybe we can expect some relief from the next session of the Legislature. Anyway, moving along on this wave of insanity that is sweeping the country by press, by word of mouth, and by radio, the HERALD will offer five free tickets to the Peoples Theatre, for the next few weeks, to the five persons sending in the best, most original

Mileage Hints

By J. F. Winchester
Supervisor of Motor Vehicle Equipment, Esso Marketers

YOU have often heard mechanics or automobile enthusiasts talk about "oil pumping," and you have wondered just what they meant. This term indicates that oil is being forced from below the piston to the combustion chamber and out of the exhaust. This action causes excessive oil consumption, a smoky exhaust and carbon accumulations in the combustion chamber. This latter condition may foul the spark plugs, causing missing, and will lead to knocking and valve trouble.

Oil pumping usually results from such things as worn piston rings or cylinder walls, insufficient expansion of the piston rings, worn ring grooves, piston rings improperly fitted to the grooves, pistons fitted with too great a clearance, stuck piston rings, too high an oil pressure or incorrect valve timing.

In some cases oil pumping indicates the need for new piston rings, in other instances it may be necessary not only to install new rings but also to rebore the cylinders. If you note any evidence of oil pumping it is advisable to let a competent mechanic check up and see what's causing the trouble. It will pay you to have whatever is wrong remedied as soon as possible rather than to let the trouble persist and result in excessive oil consumption, fouled plugs and generally inefficient engine operation.

"knock knocks." All you have to do to compete for one of these free tickets is to send or mail in your entry before Thursday of next week. (No telephone calls—PLEASE!) Winning suggestions will be given in our next issue and tickets will be sent the winners by mail. Just address: "Knock Knock Editor," The Herald, Roanoke Rapids.

And our parting shot is "Knock knock;" "Who's there?" The answer is "Oatmeal." Like a soldier who sees his duty and does it, you should inquire: "Oatmeal who?" To which our explanation is "Oatmeal is a serial; Abyssinia," again you inquire "Abyssinia who?" and the parting shot: "Abyssinia next week, with at least five new knock-knocks, if HERALD readers are as original as we think." "In the meantime, try it on your friends—providing, of course, they are not overly affected by the heat—and you are out of throwing distance.

This Man Worries for Women

DON'T worry whether or not the oven of your modern gas range will bake to perfection. The man shown in the photograph did the worrying for you before he would approve the range. He is not a chef as you might suppose—but a technologist making tests at The American Gas Association Laboratory at Cleveland, Ohio.

Baking cookies is one of his jobs.

If the cookies, thin and sensitive to fine shades of temperatures, have baked evenly and uniformly in every corner of the oven after eleven minutes in a temperature of 375 degrees Fahrenheit, they have proven the oven heat distribution is satisfactory. Should one cookie come out less than crisp and golden, the range is considered a baking failure and is turned down.

CAROLINA FARMER DEGREE AWARDED ENOCH DICKENS

Aurelian Springs

Boy Gets Highest Tar Heel Honors

By E. K. VEACH, Aurelian Springs Agricultural Teacher

Enoch Dickens, of the Aurelian Springs Young Tar Heel Farmer Chapter, on July 2nd, received the high honor of the Carolina Farmer Degree by the State Young Tar Heel Association of the Future Farmers of America. He completed his high school career in 1935, but due to not having the State Convention last year he did not receive a degree at that time. Out of 9,382 students in Vocational Agriculture in North Carolina during the year 1935, there were eighteen receiving the degree of Carolina Farmer.

The Carolina Farmer Degree stands for achievements in an agricultural student's farm projects, his high school, and the Young Tar Heel Farmers Club. It also stands for thrift, stamina and leadership. Last, but not least, this degree stands especially for scholarship. In other words, an agricultural student who comes up to the standards of the Carolina Farmers Degree is a "topnotcher" in his school, community and agricultural department.

Enoch has done outstanding supervised practice work during his high school career taking the four years on the average. When in the eighth grade he had eight acres of peanuts for a project with a labor income of $42.71. In the ninth grade he had seven acres of peanuts for a project with a labor income of $112.84. In the tenth grade he became very much interested in making the Carolina Farmer Degree. He carried four projects that year to raise the standard of his supervised practice work. They were as follows: (1) 6 acres corn; (2) 6 acres cotton; (3) 4 acres peanuts; and (4) 300 for the four projects of $721.43. The baby chicks, with a labor income total labor income for his six projects was $876.98. He carried four projects for his eleventh grade work which were not needed for him to qualify for the Degree of Carolina Farmer, but were carried to complete a four years supervised practice program.

Enoch was very active in Young Tar Heel Farmer work. He was ready and willing at all times to help push the work of the Chapter along. By keeping posted on the current happenings of Young Tar Heel Farmer work, he did not wait to be told the things that should be done, but went ahead and did them on his own initiative.

He served on a number of important committees in club work, represented the club in district livestock judging contest two different times, and was vice-president of our Young Tar Heel Farmer Club. He had an average grade of 85 on all of his high school work. He could lead a discussion when placed in charge of group, either in club work or classroom.

This achievement is an honor for Enoch; it is an honor for the club; it is an honor for the school and community; and cannot be praised too highly. Since Enoch is the only member of our club to receive this degree during the eight years it has been organized, we should set this achievement as a goal for the present and future members to work toward. Remember, club members, this honor is attained by special effort on your part thru activities.
